

The Weekly Comet Watch

Looking back on the week of June 7th...

First of all, I must remind you to please bring in your $4 for sunscreen if you are using our school's sunscreen, OR bring in your own brand for your child. Teachers are going to start asking you directly for this fee.

Last week was a very mellow week. The kids seemed to be tired and we slept late during nap times. We had a GREAT time at the park for our field day/park day. The kids played games like Over/Under (where you either pass a ball over your head or under your legs to the person behind you, working as a team and seeing how fast you can go down the entire line), relay races, parachute games, and freeze tag. The kids loved the activities and games and really want to do it again. I think Teacher Sara and I may make park day a weekly trip this summer to play different games and do different activities!

We have finished up all of our academic curriculum. This coming week we will be having lots of fun and getting ready for the big transition into summer.

Last week I sent home a detailed list of all the coming events for this week and next. We have a few busy days coming! It is also posted on the board above our sign in/out book. If you have any questions or would like to know how else you can help with any of the coming activities, please ask!

The one question I got about this week's activities from several parents was what time the graduation ceremony is this Wednesday. Let's plan on starting at about 6:15 p.m. in the Academy ballroom. This is NOT a truly formal ceremony and we'll be having pizza and root beer floats afterward, as well as possibly giving the kids time to play outside, so please take this into consideration when choosing your child's attire for the evening.

Tuesday's trip to El Presidente will begin at about 11:30 a.m. We'll leave the classroom at that time and walk through the building to the south side and then on into the restaurant. They are expecting us, and are excited to serve us. I'll be speaking with the kids concerning restaurant manners and etiquette, and I expect we will have a great time! And anyone who cares to join us is more than welcome!

Next Tuesday we will not be going on a trip anywhere, but Lieutenant Shawn Richey will be coming to visit the class and give a presentation about fire safety. I've also requested that Lieutenant Richey bring all his turnout gear so the children can see a firefighter in full gear. Firefighters in all their gear can look terrifying to kids who may be trapped in a fire. That is why I like to expose the kids to what firefighters look like in a safe environment.

Thanks again to all who have helped and given their time, money, effort, skills, or materials to help the class this year. I'm really going to miss all of the kids AND their families!

Looking forward...
