Animals, Animals, Animals!

We have been working on our theme for the month of January, Animals. My 'Beamer-friends know quite a bit about many different kinds of animals... great job, parents! We've talked about where animals live, who they may live with, the different sounds they make, as well as the different colors they may be. It's a fun theme to work with, especially when we're doing art or during snack time while we're chatting. It seems to be a favorite time in the class- when we get the opportunity to chat about different things. There's time to ask each friend a question or two and they each have a real chance to listen to one another and the stories that come about. We've worked on mixing colors to make another color: "What happens when we mix black and white?" (It's taken a bit more imagination to come up with a "trunk" for our paper plate elephant that we've made after learning about black + white= gray!) Watch for more fun and funky critters!

'Beamer Profiles

We are hoping more Sunbeam. We sheet on your you a few learn more try and Theme with pets any other tidbits like to share
